

ALEXIS SALAZAR

PROFILE

I'm a social and solution-oriented fullstack developer, recently graduated from Stockholms Tekniska Institut with a specialization in Java development. During my internship at PodManager.AI I worked hands-on with backend development in Python(automation scripts, schedulers), frontend development in Javascript, and database management using MongoDB. I built and consumed REST APIs and handled JSON-based data integration.

I enjoy working in environments where I can write clean, maintainable code and help solve real-world problems. I'm especially interested in backend logic, REST API design and connecting systems through microservices, database queries, and external APIs.
